

O'Sullivan's Spot

Cue: Music Lead-In (Can be ethnic Irish or Italian folk dance or a synthesis of the two, as long as it's sprightly and ever-so-slightly irreverent) (00:02)

Announcer (Upbeat; Irish accent): When Sean Michael O'Sullivan and Carlo Ventini first met back in 1928, the result was...

(Announcer is cut off for 00:02. Cue: Sounds of cartoonish mayhem! Breaking glass, shouting, thuds, old style police siren, etc. Intro for 00:02, then fading out under announcer for another 00:03)

Announcer (Resuming; Slightly chagrined): Well...A broken jaw and thirty days for disturbing the peace. But things got much better when they got out and the result was the legendary O'Sullivan's Irish-Italian Neighborhood Bar and Grill! O'Sullivan's isn't just a great bar: it's an institution! Home of the legendary Ugliest Bartender Contest and the original Saint Paddy's Day Party, the one that leaves all the rest of 'em in the sod! So forget about those trendy, prefab so-called "neighborhood places" and come see the real deal, 'cause Oh's has it all: great food, great drinks, and great times! Just don't ask about the underwear hanging from the ceiling.

O'Sullivan's neighborhood bar and grill, at 1808 West Main Street, just two miles west of downtown : Tweakin' the nose of propriety since 1928...and lovin' every minute of it!

Cue Music Out: 00:02

(00:60)